CIDL Registration Terms & Participant Agreement

Center for Independent Distributor Leadership (CIDL)

1. Registration & Payment

Registration confirms a participant's place in the selected CIDL class or program. The participant and/or sponsoring company is responsible for applicable registration fees and any payment due for the registration.

2. Cancellation & Course Transfer

Cancellations made 30 days or more before the scheduled start date may be transferred to another CIDL course or program, subject to availability and any applicable differences in program cost.

Cancellations made less than 30 days before the scheduled start date are subject to the full registration fee. The fee will remain due even if the participant is unable to attend. This includes hotel costs.

Before the start of a class, the sponsoring company may substitute another employee from the same company in place of the originally registered participant. Please notify the CIDL team as soon as possible when making a substitution.

3. Program Changes

CIDL programs may include in-person and/or virtual learning experiences, depending on the program. CIDL may make reasonable changes to program logistics, including instructors, schedules, locations, or delivery format, when necessary.

4. Photography & Video Consent

CIDL classes and events may be photographed and/or recorded. By registering and checking the acknowledgment box, the participant gives AD and the Center for Independent Distributor Leadership (CIDL) permission to photograph and/or record the participant and to use the participant's image, likeness, voice, or participation in photographs, video, and other recorded media for CIDL and AD marketing, promotional, educational, and communications purposes.

The participant understands that these materials may be used in CIDL or AD communications, including digital and print materials, websites, social media, newsletters, presentations, and other promotional materials.

5. Participant Expectations

Participants are expected to engage professionally, respectfully, and constructively with instructors, CIDL staff, and fellow participants. Participants should follow applicable venue, university, technology, and company policies while participating in CIDL programs.

Program materials provided by CIDL, instructors, universities, or other partners are intended for participant and company use and should not be reproduced, distributed, or shared publicly without appropriate permission.

Registration Acknowledgment

By checking "I agree to the CIDL Registration Terms & Participant Agreement" on the registration form, I acknowledge that I have read, understand, and agree to these terms on behalf of myself and, where applicable, the sponsoring company. Questions? Please contact CIDL@adhq.com.
